Herbaceous Peonies

For centuries the Peony has held its place as the most magnificent and beautiful of perennial flowering plants. They are hardy in the coldest climates and thrive in practically all parts of the temperate zone.

The soil best suited to their culture is a natural loam with a clay subsoil. They do not require humus or peat moss and manure should not be used in the soil preparation. A little bonemeal mixed with the soil at time of planting is best suited to the needs of the plants in after years.

Planting should be done during the fall months for best results. From early September until garden work is interrupted by unfavorable winter weather. In planting, dig generous holes and loosen the soil in the bottom of the hole. Set the roots so the eyes are pointing upward and so that they will be about two to two and a half inches below the surface of the soil when planting is completed. Firm the soil about the roots.

The following is a list arranged by color and carefully selected from among hundreds of varieties in commerce and contains a representative list of the choicest varieties to be had in each of the color classifications.

Japanese Type Peonies

The so called "Japanese type" of peony are those that have one or two rows of outer petals with a cushion of transformed stamens which have little or no pollen and are in the form of narrow petals, called petaloides or staminodes. They are extremely artistic, both for cutting and for the garden.

General Information and Instructions

LOCATION

The ROSEFIELD GARDENS are located twelve miles southwest of down-town Portland, Oregon, on the West Side Pacific Highway, U.S. 99W, and may be reached easily by driving out Fourth Avenue, over Barbur Boulevard, on through Tigard, Oregon, and two miles beyond at the intersection of Durham Road. Or over any other road or highway leading into U.S. Highway 99W.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

ORDERS should be accompanied by remittance to cover. Please make remittance by check or money-order and please be sure to write your name, postoffice, or express office and state plainly. Orders for peonies amounting to two ($2.00) dollars or more will be sent carriage charges prepaid by us.

Peonies

The blooming season of the peonies is usually from about May 25 to about June 15th to 20th. Visitors are invited to the Gardens to see the bloom of the different varieties. If you are interested in securing peonies for your own garden, this is the ideal way to make selections.

Stock is available for delivery or shipment through the fall months (September to about December 1st). We make shipments of Peonies and Iris to any part of the United States.

Iris

The tall bearded iris bloom through the month of May. This is an ideal time to make selections of varieties, and visitors are welcome to visit the gardens.

Shipment or delivery of iris is usually from about the middle of July to about the first of October.

We also have a few choice Japanese iris. Blooming season of these is in July and August.

Azaleas, Rhododendrons and Other Plants

We grow a limited stock of choice Azaleas and Rhododendrons as well as a number of other evergreens, both broadleaved and coniferous. These are available through the spring and fall months at the gardens only.
